

A Mother's Prayer...

Father You must!

Father before today, I have allowed circumstances to press me beyond measure.

Today and for all my tomorrows I ask You to now to do the pressing!

Press me beyond my current measure!

Press me beyond my comfort, beyond my borders, I will not be afraid!

Father You must!

I know I will cry, I know I will hurt, that will happen anyway!

I know I will hold on even unknowingly at times with "white knuckles" and nails dug in.

I ask you to pry my fingers loose, You must! I trust You!

I must become more for You to do more through me for the sake of others,

Father You must!

Do not leave me to myself, press me into you no matter what the cost!

I need You to bend me, I know You will not break me.

My trust will remain...Father You must!

May this be your heart whisper...

Love P.M....
